CHURCH RECEPTION.

Very Handsome Affair at the First Baptist Last Evening.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Boyet, with their children, have established themselves in our midst, the First Baptist Church of this city having called Brother Boyet as its Pastor.

To properly and more felicitously induct him into the hearts of his people the members arranged and gave, in honor of him and his family, a most beautiful reception last night.

The auditorium, Sunday-school room and other apartments connected were thrown together and profusely decorated with autumn leaves, roses and hot house plants; myriad lights shown resplendent over fair women and Christian men, and the seal and cordiality of the committee never flagged, and the sight of such pretty girls, so daintily gowned, would have been enough joy, aside from delicious ices, cake and coffee served by sweet little Misses as nimble of wing and as deftly endowed as the humming-birds.

The Nayaville Orchestra was in a grove of palms arranged about the platform and at intervals made the air heavy with sweet sound and gave to all that uplift which only music by this organization can.

In the Sunday-school room the guests were served, and at 10 o'clock this successfully planned and beautifully executed reception closed.

The receiving line was made up of Mrs. A. R. Glanville, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, Rev. and Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Joseph Cochran, Mrs. J. M. Judge, Mrs. Mary C. Wilson and Miss Annie Dimmitt.

BARKLEY'S

Oh, that was the day that our forefathers re- turned to the land of the living. A day of great sorrow, with its lessons un- taught. Their lives they would never in ex- treme solitude. Follow the top button that served on their lives. To give them more room when they got the right. Upon the loved faces of those who were dead.

The women their faded eyebrows would be- come a week for the treasure in lace and in wool. The older young maid, the sweet daughter. And other faces that they knew to be gone.

From out the great pot they the fruit of their lives. Would stick for the best in the waiting. The fragrance borne forth telling all of their lives. The tale of the dinner of laces and greens.

New York may die on hot stirs and cold bottles. The ladies feast on the succulent ones. Chicagoans send down their ravens throats. Most liberal eaters of those decorated bands. At Louis may feed on corpse and imbalances. The Bostoner feed in how a bread and beans. But this one does surprise.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 2.—The city council accepted the proposition of Andrew Carnegie to give Guthrie $50,000 for a free library building.

Mr. G. T. REYNOLDS prints a card in The Grackon Chronicle denying a series of lies that have been circulated about him. Mr. REYNOLDS must be a beginner in politics; else he would know that it's a waste of energy to attempt to run down a campaign lie or to head off the campaign liar. The best plan is to say nothing and let the lie go. The best plan is to say nothing and let the lie go.

At the close POWERS was kissed and embraced by several women who had been sitting near him, among them being Mrs. Brock of this city, as reported by The Cincinnati Enquirer, though denied by Mrs. Brock, —Flemingburg Times-Democrat.

In the same paper appears this card:

DID NOT KISS CALER POWERS.
When the verdict was rendered in the Powers trial, I went up to Mr. POWERS and laying my hand on his shoulder bent over and spoke words of encouragement; but the report sent out for the papers that I kissed him is emphatically false. Very respectfully,
LULA C. BROCK.

The Democrat's statement that the story was first given out by The Cincinnati Enquirer ought to have been corrected. Mrs. Brock's denial wholly unnecessary.

The London Medical Press and Circular prints some alarming details on the subject of the King's health. It is stated that papillomatous growths have on three occasions been removed from the King's left vocal cord. THE LONDON makes haste to agree with the learned London Medical Press, etc., when it adds, "Under the circumstances it seems right and proper that the natural anxiety should be at once met with a clear announcement as to the truth."

That's right. What newspaper readers want is truth. And they want it in plain words. If the London Editor had told his readers that the King had warts in his throat, not a mother's son of 'em would have understood him; but when he gives out the information that it is a "papillomatous" growth that pesters his Royal Nibs, he makes it just as plain as day.
